Such a nation, Mr. Balfour impressively declared, would be considered "outside the comity of nations."
In a brief hour's work, which preceded a field day for oratory in which the delegation leaders took opportunity to pay tribute to President Harding for the calling of the conference and for its work, the conference put the formal stamp of approval on the results of three long months of patient and not untroubled negotiation which will take their places in the niches of history.

Final Approval Given.

Final Approval Given.

They were principally: Final approval of the four-power Pacific treaty with a supplement ex-cluding the homeland islands of Japan from its terms.

Final approval of the far eastern freaty affirming anew the open door in China and providing for her integrity against foreign exploitation and engrees the state of the s roachment.

Final approval of a treaty revising the system of Chinese customs charges—a measure described as vital to the rehabilitation of China by herself.

Formal announcement of a declaration of principles on the Siberian question, pledging the territorial integrity of that land.

Shantung Decision Success.

Formal announcement of the agreement by Japan to hand back Shantung to China—a conclusion of a subject that almost wrecked the peace conference of Versailles.

Formal announcement of a declaration on Japan's famous twenty-one demands on China and formal andemands on China and formal announcement of Japan's abandonment of the much attacked "group five."

A provision to the naval limitation treaty that none of the powers pledged may sell any of their warships between now and the time they scrapped.

A resolution to improve the protec-tion of the Chinese eastern railway. While today's work virtually com-pleted the work of the conference, it will formally be closed Monday with an address by President Harding. All delegates are making arrangements to return to their homes immediately

Sixth Plenary Session Gets Under Way for Final Acts of Parley

By the Associated Press.

Just after 10:30 o'clock this morning the sixth plenary session of the arms conference got under way for the final acts of the history making event which has consumed exactly twelve weeks.

Today's program was the formal completion of the far eastern program by the adoption of the several treaties already agreed to and to clear the way for the final session on Monday, when an address by President Harding will close the conference as it was been on November ence as it was begun on November Open Door Treaty Presented.

The general far castern treaty em-bodying the Root four points and the open door for China was presented first by Secretary Hughes. The text of the treaty followed closely, and in some places identically, the language of the resolutions previously adopted on the subject by the conference. Its full text will be found in another column. Approved on Roll Call.

Without a word of discussion the treaty was approved on a roll call of the nine powers.

A declaration by China not to alienate any portion of her territory also was put on the conference record.

Then the Chinese tariff treaty was presented by Senator Underwood, chairman of the committee that Desiring to adopt a policy designed to stabilize conditions in the far east, to safeguard the rights and interests of China, and to promote intercourse between China and the other powers upon the basis of equality of opportunity; Have resolved to conclude a treaty for that purpose, and to that end have appointed as their respective plenipotentiaries; Who, having communicated to each other their full powers, found to be in good and due form, have agreed as follows: ARTICLE I.

The contracting powers, other than China, agree:

(1) To respect the sovereignty, the independence and the territorial and administrative integrity of China. of China;
(2) To provide the fullest and most unembarrassed opportunity to China to develop and maintain for herself an effective and stable government;

(3) To use their influence for the purpose of effectually establishing and maintaining the principle of equal opportunity for the commerce and industry of all nations throughout the territory of China;
(4) To refrain from taking advantage of conditions in China in order to seek special rights or privileges which would abridge the rights of subjects or citizens of friendly states, and from countenancing action inimical to the security of such states. ARTICLE II.

The contracting powers agree not to enter into any treaty, agree-ment, arrangement or understand-ing, either with one another, or, individually or collectively, with any powers or powers, which would infringe or impair the prin-ciples stated in article I. ARTICLE III.

With a view to applying more effectually the principles of the open door or equality of opportu-nity in China for the trade and industry of all nations, the contract-ing powers, other than China, agree that they will not seek, nor support their respective nationals

(a) Any arrangement which might purport to establish in favor of their interests any general superiority of rights with respect to commercial or economic development in any designated region of China:

(b) Any such monopoly or preference as would deprive the nationals of any other power of the right of undertaking any legitimate trade or industry in China, or of participating with the Chinese government, or with any local authority, in any category of public enterprise, or which by reason of its scope, duration or geographical extent is calculated to frustrate the practical application of the principle of equal opportunity. It is understood that the foregoing stipulations of this article are not to be so construed as to going stipulations of this article are not to be so construed as to prohibit the acquisition of such properties or rights as may be necessary to the conduct of a par-ticular commercial, industrial, or financial undertaking or to the en-couragement of invention and research. China undertakes to be guided by China undertakes to be guided by the principles stated in the fore-going stipulations of this article in dealing with applications for economic rights and privileges from governments and nationals of all foreign countries, whether parties to the present treaty or not.

ARTICLE IV. The contracting powers agree not to support any agreements by their respective nationals with each other designed to create spheres of influence or to provide for the enjoyment of mutually exclusive opportunities in designated parts of Chinese territory.

ARTICLE V.

China agrees that, throughout the whole of the railways in China, she will not exercise or permit unfair discrimination of any kind. In particular there shall be no discrimination whatever, direct or indirect, in respect of charges or of facilities on the ground of the nationality of passengers or the countries from which or to which they are proceeding, or the origin or ownership of goods or the country from which or to which they are consigned, or the nationality or ownership of the ship or other means of conveying such passengers or goods before or after their transport on the Chinese railways.

The contracting powers, other than China, assume a corresponding obligation in respect of any of the aforesaid railways over which they or their nationals are in a position to exercise any control in virtue of any concession, special agreement or otherwise.

ARTICLE VI. ARTICLE V.

ARTICLE VI. The contracting powers, other than China, agree fully to respect China's rights as a neutral in time of war to which China is not a party: and China declares that when she is a neutral she will observe the obligations of neutrality. ARTICLE VII.

The contracting powers agree that, whenever a situation arises which, in the opinion of any one of them, involves the applications of the stipulations of—the present treaty, and renders desirable discussion of such application, there (Continued on Page 5, Column 6.)

ARTICLE II.

Immediate steps shall be taken, through a special conference, to prepare the way for the speedy abolition of likin and for the fulfillment of the other conditions laid down in article VIII of the treaty of September 5, 1902, between Great Britain and China, in articles IV and V of the treaty of October 8, 1903, between the United States and China, and in article I of the supplementary treaty of October 8, 1903, between Japan and China, with a view to levying the surtaxes provided for in those articles.

The special conference shall be composed of representatives of the signatory powers, and of such other powers as may desire to participate and may adhere to the present treaty, in accordance with the provisions of article VIII, in sufficient time to allow their representatives to take part. It shall meet in China within the provisions resentatives to take part. It shall meet in China within three months after the coming into force of the present treaty, on a day and at a place to be designated by the Chinese government.

ARTICLE III. The special conference provided for in article II shall consider the interim provisions to be applied prior to the abolition of likin and the fulfillment of the other conditions laid down in the articles of the treaties mentioned in article II; and it shall authorize the laying of levying of a surtax on dutable imports as from such date, for such purposes, and subject to such conditions as it may determine.

The surtax shall be at a uniform The surtax shall be at a uniform rate of 2½ per centum ad valorem, provided, that in case of certain articles of luxury which, in the opinion of the special conference, can bear a greater increase without unduly impeding trade, the total surtax may be increased, but may not exceed 5 per centum ad valorem.

ARTICLE IV.

Following the immediate revision of the customs schedule of duties on imports into China, mentioned in article I, there shall be a further revision thereof to take a further revision thereof to take effect at the expiration of four years following the completion of the aforesaid immediate revision, in order to insure that the customs duties shall correspond to the ad valorem rates fixed by the special conference provided in article II.

article II.

Following this further revision there shall be, for the same purpose, periodical revisions of the customs schedule of duties on imports into China every seven years, in lieu of the decennial revision authorized by existing treaties with China.

In order to prevent delay, any revision made in pursuance of this article shall be effected in accordance with rules to be prescribed by the special conference provided for in article II. ARTICLE V. In all matters relating to cus-toms duties there shall be effective

Mabel Nordmand, Mary Miles Minter and Neva Gerber are three of the motion picture actresses involved in the police investigation. Reports have come to the police, they say, that a love affair at one time or another existed between each of these and the slain director.

Police say, without mentioning the name, that a motion picture actress is the center of their investigation. A theory of a "revenge" motive, with jealousy as the possible direct cais; is being analyzed, they say.

Edna Purviance and Mrs. Douglas MacLean, the former an actress and the latter the wife of an actor, are incidental witnesses in the case. These five figures in the motion picture world and others, actresses, directors and employes, are scheduled to appear here today in the inquest.

Had Premonition of Death.

A life in fear of death, during the last few days of his existence, adds to the dramatic mystery of the dual existence of Taylor. He mentioned to at least one person, police say, that he had premonition of death.

The latest motion picture actress to be drawn into the investigation, said at one time to have been intimately associated with Taylor, was said to be out of the city, but the police gave associated with Taylor, was said to be out of the city, but the police gave no intimation as to the whereabouts of the director, whose name was linked with hers in the stories told the detectives by a number of per-

Miss Normand is said to have admitted, as did Neva Gerber, another film actress, that Taylor once had been engaged to her, while Miss Minter also is said to have enjoyed the director's close friendship at one time. It was only a week before his death, however, according to Claire Windsor's mother, that the latter took her first automobile ride and dinner with Taylor. The police plan to interview Miss Windsor as they have the other actresses in their search for possible clues as soon as she re-

The District Commissioners, reporting today on the Capper resolution for an investigation of the Knickerbocker disaster, urged such an inquiry and declared it desirable, "not only in the interest of the people of Washington but also of those of the entire country."

The Commissioners' recommendations were embodied in a report to Senator Ball, chairman of the Senate District committee. The only revision in the pending resolution sought by them is elimination of the reference to unproved charges against the building inspector's office. In this connection the Commissioners suggest an inquiry be started into the department's facilities for conducting the important work of inspecting Washington building.
